Parents Suspect Foul Play In Death Plunge Of Son On I-71

By TED OSHODI

The bereaved parents of the 26-year-old Northeast Columbus man who allegedly plunged to his death Oct. 18, from the Hudson Street bridge, at I-71, say they suspect foul play and don't believe that their son committed a suicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders McCullough, of 1218 Huber Ave., told The CALL & POST that someone could have pushed their son, Duane McCullough off the bridge and killed him.

"How could police have seen him jump off the bridge? How did they know he was by himself? Who are the witnesses to the suicide, if that was what happened?"

These are the questions the McCulloughs are asking about the death of their son, brother and father, of the same address.

McCullough described his son as a very nice person who was loved by everybody. He said his son was an active member of Greater Liberty Temple Church, 1155 Windsor Ave.

Columbus homicide Sgt. Cliff Davis, said about 2:30 a.m. McCullough jumped off from the southside of the bridge into the southbound lanes of I-71. He was pronounced dead about 3:12 a.m., according to Davis.

A spokesperson for the Franklin County Coroner's office told The CALL & POST Monday that the death of McCullough was ruled suicide. McCullough died from sharp impact to the trunk area of the Family Of Beirut-Based Marine Happy He's 'OK'

BEIRUT CALLING-A euphoric Mrs. Callender is shown during a two-hour telephone conversation with her Beirut-based Marine husband, Pfc. Michael Callender Tuesday. The Callender family had kept an anxious prayer vigil since the slaughter of nearly 200 Marines in a terrorist suicide bombing at a Marine base there Sunday. During the mid-day call, Mrs. Callender cradled son Jason as she enjoyed her transcontinental reunion with her beloved East High School sweetheart. The couple also has a daughter Jennifer. Callender told The CALL & POST that he expects to be stateside and in Columbus for the holidays. He's been stationed at the U.S. Embassy in Beirut since May.

the worried family of the 19-year-old Pfc. when he succeeded in placing a call home to Columbus to tell them he was still safe and had been in no immediate danger during a terrorist suicide bombing in Beirut, Lebanon last Sunday that left at least 191 Marines dead and many more injured.

The welcome call, which climaxed an agonizing three-day prayer vigil for his wife Carla, daughter Jennifer, son Jason, parents Phillip and Dorothy Callender, came shortly before noon, turning anxiety and gloom into unbridled pandemonium.

Unique TV Programs Target Teen Drug Use

On two successive Wednesdays, Nov. 2 and 9, one of most important programming efforts in the recent history of public broadcasting will take place when communities across the nation join together via TV to combat school-age drug and alcohol abuse.

Town meetings, for the purpose of viewing PBS' "The Chemical People," have been scheduled throughout Columbus with a panel of professionals, who are familiar with drug and alcohol abuse among local youth, present at each meeting to discuss how the issue might best be addressed within the community.

The town meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. with "The Chemical People" being telecast at 8 p.m. on WOSU-TV34.

Students, parents and local school personnel are encouraged to attend the meetings to be held at Beechcroft High School, Briggs High School, the Columbus Health Department, Union Grove Baptist Church, St. Stephen's Community House (North Center), PREPARING TOWN MEETING-A group of students at Union Grove Baptist Church discuss plans and program format for the upcoming town meetings for students, parents and teachers which will be held at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 2 and 9, in conjunction with the PBS teen drug and alcohol special, "The Chemical People." The program, which features an appearance by Mrs. Nancy Reagan, will be shown on WOSU-TV34 at 8 p.m. Pictured are: Kimberly Dodley, Robbie McBroom, Marylin E. Hill, coordinator, James Mitchell, Dieta Landrum, Dr. Lewis Dodley, coordinator, and Beatrice Rinehart, Missionary Circle leader. The meetings will be held at the church.

WILLIAM O. WALKER

Saturday, Oct. 29, marks the second anniversary of the death of Call and Post Editor-Publisher William Otis Walker. The 85-year-old Dean of Black Journalism is still remembered by his family, the staff, his colleagues, politicians, and the community who valued his leadership qualities.

Walker believed that for blacks to progress, it was necessary to make economic as well as political gains. He worked hard in pursuit of his belief over 49 years, the length of time he devoted to publishing the Call and Post, and developing the weekly into one of the most successful publishing businesses in America. He saw the growth of the Call and Post expand from Cleveland to Columbus and Cincinnati.

An extraordinary man, Walker's editorial judgment and business acumen made him unique and, because of his contributions, Cleveland and the nation are fortunate this giant of a man passed this way. This giant was a politician, journalist, businessman, humanitarian, and black civil rights activist, who represented the best in all people.

AN OPEN LETTER Bill Moss Pushes For Ross Election

Dear Friends:

I want to take this opportunity to express my full support for the candidacy of Charles Ross for the office of Mayor of Columbus.

It was my pleasure to work with Mr. Ross on the campaign for Dr. John Rosemond in 1975 when he ran for mayor.

The next year, I was a candidate for the Congress of the United States, and Mr. Ross was one of my strong supporters.

I know Charles Ross as a man of principle. One who is unafraid to stand up for what is right for the people, and I know him to be very talented and very much capable of running this city.

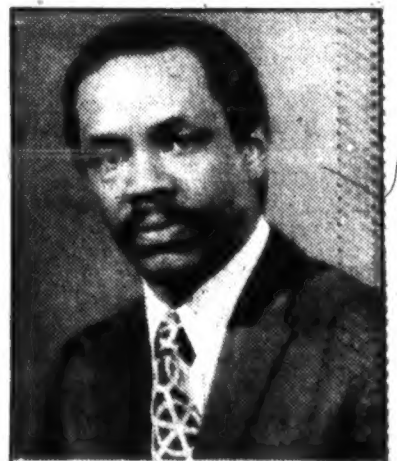

I believe it to be a great thing that Charles Ross is willing to make the personal sacrifice of time, energy, and personal resources that he is making in offering himself to public service.

His candidacy represents hope for us at a time when hope is truly needed.

I want to urge every single one of you who will cast a ballot

'Safe Halloween' Night Is Scheduled At Hilltop

The Hilltop Civic Council, 2510 Sullivant Ave., will present "Safe Halloween," featuring witches, goblins, Dracula, and the evil eyes, on Monday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The event is designed to provide safety for children who will otherwise be going from door to door on the Halloween night, according to Roger Germany, executive director.

"Candies and other treats will be given to children at our office to prevent tampering, and our agency will be a one stop" begging site, instead of door to door begging," Germany said.

The Beggars Night treat is estimated to cost the agency about $3,000, according to Germany. To make donations and other contributions, call 279-6314.

Halloween Patrol Set For Children

Monday, Oct. 31, has been designated as Halloween Columbus Auxiliary Police Activity Night in the City of Columbus, between the hours of 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The Police Athletic League (PAL) will be furnishing trick or treat candy on that evening during those hours.

The candy will be available from marked cruisers that are not busy or responding to a call. Parents should caution children not to run into the streets in an attempt to signal a cruiser.

A "Halloween Patrol" will be working that evening also with Columbus Auxiliary Police Officers and Juvenile Bureau personnel patrolling the city to respond to Halloween type complaints and problems.

The idea behind this "patrol" is to help protect younger children and curb vandalism in neighborhoods throughout the city.

Anyone having a Halloween related complaint Monday evening should call 222-4545 and "Halloween Patrol" officers will be dispatched to assist in resolving the complaint.

HALLOWEEN PARTY TIME: Colorful ghosts and goblins, 12 years and under, will converge on Marion-Franklin Recreation Center, 2901 Lockbourne Rd., for the annual Halloween Party from 6-8 p.m., Monday, Oct. 31. The ghoulish fun will consist of costume judging, carnival games, a haunted house, prizes and refreshments. The masquerade party is being co-sponsored by the Center's Advisory Council, Council of Southside Organizations and the Columbus Recreation and Parks Department. The unidentified prize winners shown here participated in the spooky fun last year.

Murder Trial Set

A Northside man, charged with murder in the Sept. 10 slaying of his former school mate, whose body was found in the trunk of his car, will face trial Nov. 14 in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Danny Towns, 18, 2223 Jermain Dr., a former student of Beechcroft High School, is being held in the County jail on a $35,000 surety bond.

Columbus police said the body of the victim, Danny Cumberlander, 22, 2287 Jermain Dr., and a 1980 graduate of Beechcroft, died of apparent gunshot wounds to the stomach and chest.

Trial Of Columbus Businessman Charged With Murdering Wife, Scheduled To Begin On Nov. 1

(COLUMBUS BUREAU)
A trial will begin Nov. 1 in Franklin County Common Pleas Court on the murder charge against an Eastside Columbus businessman, Aaron C. Butler, 62.

Butler was ordered by Judge Tommy Thompson April 21 to undergo a psychiatric evaluation to determine whether he was insane when he allegedly killed his wife, Jacques Butler, during a domestic argument last November in their home, 2325 Somersworth Dr.

Assistant County Prosecutor Dan Hogan, told The CALL AND POST that results of such examination have shown that Butler was sane at the time of the offense, and that he is competent to stand trial.

Butler suffered gunshot wounds to the abdomen and was hospitalized for about three weeks at St. Anthony Hospital.

Butler is the manager of Butler & Butler Building and Remodeling Co., 2910 E. 5th Ave. He is out of jail on a $25,000 property bond and $25,000 recognizance bond, according to court records.

NEAC Supports Long-Hamilton UDAG Development Proposal

The Near East Area Commission (NEAC) voiced its support at a recent meeting for the proposed $500,000 Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) on the northeast corner of Long St. and Hamilton Ave.

If approved, the project would call for the remodeling of properties at 136-140 E. Long St., and 150 Hamilton Ave. They are designed to feature 10-bedroom and four commercial units, according to William K. Harris, developer.

The City of Columbus Dept. of Development approved the plan Oct. 22. The CALL &

POST learned.

An application for a zoning variance approval has been filed with the City Council, Harris said.

Presenting the plan to the NEAC, Harris said, "The project is economically feasible and would create job opportunities in the community. We are trying to give the area a new face."

Ray Jones, chairman of the NEAC told The CALL & POST: "We support the plan, but we want to make sure that the UDAG money is channeled back to the Near East Area community for targeted capital

Crime Solvers Offer $1000 For Clues In Westside Arson

Columbus fire investigators have determined arson as the cause of a four-alarm fire which destroyed two west side businesses. The crime has been designated Crime of the Week in the Crime Solvers Anonymous Program.

The fire, which was apparently set in the early morning hours of Oct. 11, destroyed the International Tire Warehouse at 1712 W. 5th and Fish Graphics at 1724 W. 5th. Property damage amounted to over $1 million. Arson investigators are seeking anyone with information about the identity of possible suspects.

Crime Solvers Anonymous is offering a $1,000 reward, with a deadline of Nov. 3, for information leading to an arrest and indictment in this arson.

Information received after Nov. 3 may qualify the caller for a larger reward. Information should be called to 222-4700 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Crime Solvers also takes calls from persons with information about other felonies.

Any information leading to the indictment of a felony suspect may qualify the caller for a reward as determined by the Crime Solvers Anonymous Reward Committee. Each caller is given a code number which preserves his anonymity but can be used to contact him at a later time.

Reward funds come from private donations to Crime Solvers Anonymous, Inc., a non-profit organization sponsored by the Citizen-Journal, Columbus Call & Post, Columbus Division of Police and Fire, Franklin County Sheriff, Kiwanis Club of Columbus (Downtown), WTVN/610 and WTVN-TV. Donations are tax deductible and can be sent to Crime Solvers Anonymous, P.O. Box 1225, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

Black Adoption Group Names Contest Winner

What's in a name? For Delois Steele of Lilley Ave., a name resulted in a $100 award.

Ms. Steele read in The CALL & POST about the name contest for the Franklin County Children Services' (FCCS) new black adoption unit.

"I really never thought about winning," said an excited Ms. Steele. "I submitted the name, Black Family Connections, because I thought it was important for the black community to respond. I knew the new black adoption unit needed support from the community," she said.

Over 60 community entries were received. "It was a difficult decision. There were several very good names submitted," said Gloria Green, the new adoption unit's director.

According to Green, the new black adoption unit is extremely pleased with the name. "We are also very proud of the community involvement," said Green.

Black Family Connections, the new black adoption unit of Franklin County Children Services, is in dire need of adoptive families. "We particularly need families willing to consider black boys over seven," said Green.

Interested families are encouraged to call Children Services at 275-2511 for more information.

CONTEST PRIZE WINNER-Delois Steele, center, smiles happily as she received a $100 award for having submitted the winning name for the black adoption unit sponsored by Franklin County Children Services. On hand to present the award and congratulate Ms. Steele for naming the unit Black Family Connections were Gloria Green, unit director, and Cliff Tyree, a member of the advisory board of Black Family Connections.

Jerry Hammond Speaks Out...

- "Did you know that Rinehart will lead Ronald Reagan's campaign in Columbus in 1984?"
- "Do you remember the Black people who said they were Democrats but voted for Ronald Reagan as a protest? That protest vote has almost strangled our community!!"
- "I find it odd that Republicans are telling Black folk that Democrats haven't done anything to help... I guess Ronald Reagan, Richard Nixon and Rinehart are examples of help!"

For the first time in the history of Columbus, Black people have the opportunity for Real Political Power!!! But we should not be fooled by the fast talk and gimmicks of any candidate, nor should we waste our vote in protest. The next four years are critical to the development of our community. Don't let anyone Black or White, succeed in dividing us.

Time after time you've demanded that I stand firm on issues important to us. I hope that you feel I have met the challenge. This time I need you to stand firm ... I ask you to vote for me for City Council and I ask you to join me and vote for Mike Dorrian for Mayor.

MOTOWN SMOKER

4 Tops, Temptations To Encore Showstopping TV Performances

One of television's hottest shows, "Motown 25: Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow," will be seen in a repeat telecast from 9-11 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30 via WCMH-TV 4.

Recent winner of an Emmy Award as Outstanding Variety, Music or Comedy Program, the variety special saluting Motown Records' silver anniversary, features artists who are or have been part of the Motown family, as well as entertainers influenced by that smoking Motown sound.

Starring in the show are such international stars as Richard Pryor, Michael Jackson, Diana Ross, Chubby Checker, Dick Clark, Lionel Richie, Linda Ronstadt, and many more. Other performers include The Commodores, The Temptations, The Four Tops, High Energy, DeBarge, Mary Wells, The Miracles, The Supremes, The Jackson Five, Martha Reeves and Junior Walker.

Highlights of the special extravaganza include performances of groups that began in the pop and soul music of the last 25 years.

Not only the entertainment, but the 2-hour special will also offer, but quite possibly the great, great, GREAT entertainment experience of a lifetime, is the sensational battle of hits waged between The Temptations and The Four Tops.

TRAMAIN HAWKINS ... at merston nov. 6

If you missed it before and must pass it up again, do yourself a favor, borrow a friend's video recorder and tape this once-in-a-lifetime celebration for future viewing. Trust me. - C.B.

THEAT TIDBITS
The Columbus Chapter of Cupidettes Club, Inc. will present its annual Hobo Hop Saturday, Nov. 5 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The Rhythm Masters will play for the masquerade and dance which will be held in the Lausche Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds (17th Ave. entrance).

Tickets are available by donation and cost $5 in advance or $6 at the door. The tickets can be purchased from Cupidette Club members, or ticket information can be obtained by calling 443-0662 or 252-1353.

Proceeds help operate the club's Scholarship Fund. Cash Prizes will be awarded for outstanding hobo costumes.

The Center Stage Theatre's "Tambourines To Glory," held over by popular demand, will end its record-breaking run with the final curtain set for 8 p.m. Saturday, at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth St.

Tickets for the rollicking Langston Hughes comedy with music can be had by calling 252-1348.

"Tambourines" will also be performed at 8 p.m., Friday. Jeannine Sessoms directs.

The progressive jazz group Kilimanjaro will perform at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3, in the main dining room of the Moore's Campus Center at Capital University.

Admission to the concert, sponsored by the University Programming Office, is $2. The performance is open to the public.

The annual conference of the National Black Programming Consortium will be held in St. Louis, MO, Nov. 3-6, at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel.

NEPC is headquartered here at 700 Bryden Rd., Suite 155. Telephone: 461-1536.

The conference is expected to attract hundreds of black media specialists, such as programmers, stations managers, producers, cable managers, educators, government representatives and others interested in broadcast technology and policy issues.

Renowned Grammy-winning gospel singer Tramaine Hawkins will raise the curtain on the 13th annual Graduate and Professional Schools Visitation Days at OSU, Nov. 6-7.

Mr. Hawkins' concert will be performed at 8 p.m., Sunday, in Merston Auditorium.

Also featured will be bass baritone Wintley Phipps and The Aeolians Touring Choir from Oakwood College, Huntsville, Ala. There will also be guest appearances by Columbus' own Crawford Family Singers.

MOTOWN SHOWSTOPPERS - The Four Tops top panel, and the Temptations (bottom) in CALL & POST file photos create one of television's finest moments when the two legendary pop and soul groups wage a sensational battle of their hits on "Motown 25: Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow," the Emmy Award winning musical extravaganza which celebrates Motown Records silver anniversary. The variety special will be telecast in a repeat performance at 9 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30, WCMH-TV 4.

CTNT Radio To Offer Broadcast 'Alternatives'

CTNT, the new radio, the city's first black-owned and operated station, which officially began operating Oct. 24, is providing an important alternative to the Columbus community's conventional radio manager and program director.

Keith Willis this week. According to Willis the station will offer a complete programming schedule, featuring music, gospel, community news and commentary.

CTNT (cable dynamite) will operate on a 24-hour basis and will spotlight personalities familiar to the black community.

Willis said, "Another difference between our station and others in Columbus will be that the community can actually buy stock in the station," he announced. Shares range in cost, with $100 being standard.

The Nov. 8 election will be CTNT's first major undertaking. Planned is a "Get-Out-The-Vote" commentary, and voter education.

Art Classes

Registration for art classes at the Columbus Community Arts Center will begin Nov. 7.

Classes will include: 7:30-9:00 p.m. - Drawing, painting, sculpture, and pottery. Call 222-7047 for further information.

ON THE AIR - Danielle Madison issued the breath of life for CTNT stereo-in radio which was introduced to the Columbus community on Monday morning. Giving a helpful pointer is Keith Willis (aka Frank Kelly), general manager and program director. Also checking in for the first day of album oriented programming was Sales Manager Michael Boyd. Pop Corn Shop Opens

A smartly designed, fun-filled new shop has opened in the Town & Country Shopping Center on East Broad Street. With over thirty-five flavors of freshly popped corn, "Kernels" will offer the public unusual taste treats in bags or custom-designed gift cans of varying sizes.

With more than ten local artists applying their own styles to each can, the customer can choose from a large selection of themes from fun designs to pastoral landscapes. Cans will be personalized and hand painted to fulfill special requests. Filled with a single flavor or combinations, they make unusual gifts for any occasion.

Locally owned by Denise Kohn, "Kernels" boasts the expertise of Wilbur J. Sanders as manager. Sanders has vast knowledge in popcorn popping and production. Produced on the premises according to exclusive recipes, the popcorn is said to remain fresh in cans for over a month.

"Kernels" will ship anywhere and also offers Gift Certificates.

Located three doors west of Penny's at 3766 East Broad, the store will be open Monday through Saturday 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Charlie Briggs To Guest Direct 'Dracula' Thriller

Players Theatre, 549 Franklin Ave., will present The Passion of Dracula beginning Thursday, Oct. 27 through Sunday, Nov. 13. This drama, performed in the Shedd Theatre, will be directed by Charlie Briggs.

The Passion of Dracula, set in the English countryside, is a new version of the great Dracula legend. This Gothic-thriller reveals that several young village girls have died under mysterious circumstances. Dr. Seward presides over the local mental hospital when the village acquires a new resident—Count Dracula.

With this production Charlie Briggs returns to the Columbus theatre scene following a 17 year absence. In the mid-1960s, Briggs, who recently served as Artistic Director of Karamu House's professional and community theatres in Cleveland, directed for the Boller's Dramatic Society and Wesley Players at Ohio State University.

Briggs was also stage manager at University Theatre, Stadium Theatre, Play-on-the-Green and Kenley Players.

On Broadway, he co-produced the musical "Raisin," winner of the coveted Tony Award for the "Best Musical" in 1974. He also stage managed "Purlie," "The Story Theatre" and "My Fair Lady."

His regional theatre credits include directing the Karamu Company's acclaimed debut production of "A Raisin in the Sun." He was also stage manager of the touring production of Bubbling Brown Sugar which played in the Ohio Theatre in 1977.

Guest directing assignments have taken him to various universities and performing arts schools throughout the country, in addition to extensive directorial activity in the off and off-Broadway theatre movement of the 70's.

Briggs currently works as an editorial staff writer and copy editor for the Columbus CALL & POST.

Special pre-midnight performances of The Passion of Dracula will be given Oct. 28 and 29.

CHARLIE BRIGGS, Director of The Passion of Dracula at Players Theatre is seen, left, discussing set design with Herb Snuffer, Players Theatre's scenic designer. The Gothic drama will be performed in the Shedd Theatre Oct. 27-Nov. 13. For tickets call 224-6971.

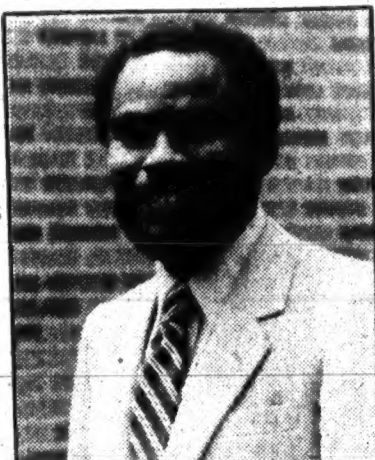

Black Musical Slated At Vet's Memorial

"You Can't Back Into Heaven-You Must Come Straight Through The Gate," written by a Columbus old-timer, William Lapez Daniels, is being presented by popular demand at the main auditorium of Vet's Memorial, 300 W. Broad St., Friday, Nov. 4 at 8 p.m.

The play and the music, written by Daniel brings to light how saints and sinners can identify with what they see and hear. This is a musical Biblical extravaganza composed of six old and new testament vignettes that reveal God's plan for man.

The music takes on a special anointing via the special arrangements and directions of Bertram Robinson.

None of the actors except Daniels has ever been on a big time stage. The Echoes from Paradise choir, put together by Robinson, brings to the play several musical eras like the

EDITORIALS

State Issue 1: Vote No

Proponents of Issue 1 have concluded that irresponsible drinking and driving is a function of age. Raising the minimum driving age would not be a politically wise decision so groups such as Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) and the Coalition for 21 have singled out 19 and 20-year-olds for sanctions.

Issue 1 would make it illegal for anyone under 21 to possess or consume alcoholic beverages, even in their own homes. It also makes it illegal for a parent to supply such beverages.

The logic advanced by proponents of Issue 1 is faulty and Ohio Department of Highway Safety statistics tend to prove it.

According to the statistics, 18 to 20-year-olds are not the greatest threat to the public safety but rather the 21 to 25-year-old group. A vast majority of alcohol related accidents do not involve persons under 21 and there is no reason for them to be penalized.

An overwhelming majority of young adults have accepted the rights and responsibilities imposed on them by society. They marry, have children, serve in the armed forces, make contracts, get into debt, buy cars and homes and exercise their voting franchise.

Ohio enacted a real tough drunk driving law last year and alcohol related auto deaths are down. It is a forthright law directly addressing the problem. It provides for mandatory fines and jail for first offenders.

Issue 1 would only take away from Ohio's attack against alcohol related accidents by causing a prohibition that is certain to be challenged successfully by 19 and 20-year-olds. VOTE NO ON ISSUE 1.

State Issue 2: Vote No

Issue 2 is a constitutional amendment which would require a three-fifths majority in both houses of the Ohio General Assembly to enact a tax, or to increase revenue from a tax. Stated another way, 41 percent of the legislators in either branch of the General Assembly could thwart the majority's effort to fulfill its responsibility by adopting measures which provide sufficient revenues to meet the state's needs.

Either 14 Senators or 40 State Representatives could hold the budget hostage or bring the budgetary process to an abrupt halt.

It would be chaotic for state government to be dominated by a minority able to reject the will of the overwhelming majority.

There are four checks and balances in state government: the Senate, the Ohio House, the Governor and finally the voters. The process does not need to be further incumbered by minority tyranny.

VOTE NO ON ISSUE 2.

State Issue 3: Vote No

Issue 3 is one of the most confusing issues ever to confront Ohio voters. In effect, voting no means you favor the taxes and reforms enacted along partisan lines in the last session of the General Assembly.

Conversely, a yes vote would eliminate the 85 separate measures and cause a $1.5 billion shortfall in general revenues when the measure takes effect July 1, 1984.

The issue is complex, defying Ohio's prohibition against multiple questions in a single vote, the Constitutional Amendment would repeal every change in state tax law passed since January 1, 1983.

If on the surface the measure seems confusing, it is even more so when the economics of proponents are examined. But more than any other factor it appears the proposal is nothing but an attempt to have a referendum on Governor Richard Celeste. Governor Celeste has worked hard to fulfill his campaign commitments to include blacks and women in his administration. He has admittedly achieved his objective of improving conditions of blacks and their relationship to state government but if things are working in white America, like they usually do, Celeste's success just makes him a better target for those who oppose change.

The proposal is also blatantly partisan, as was the enactment of the series of tax reforms and revenue enhancements that precipitated Issue 3.

If Democrats forced the issue in the General Assembly, Republicans certainly have forced the measure on to the ballot. Petitions on the issue were circulated primarily by Republican precinct people and the drive was well coordinated by Republican legislators and County Chairmen.

Proponents have based their case on natural voter resistance to tax increases and a faulty economic doctrine that surmises the Ohio economy is on an upturn and will continue to improve dramatically.

There is no rational basis for such optimism.

Vote YES For Our Children

When Columbus and Franklin County voters go to the polls on Nov. 8, they will have the chance to show their support for neglected and abused children of this area by pulling the YES lever for Issue 4. Issue 4 is the Franklin County Children Services 1.1 mill property tax levy renewal.

A YES vote for Issue 4 will not raise taxes, but will be a vote for continuation of critical services for defenseless children. The agency serves, directly and indirectly, 14,000 abused, neglected and homeless children.

The black community should be mindful of their vote on Issue 4 because 39 percent of the children served by the agency are black. The agency recently created a special department that specifically addresses the needs and placement of black children.

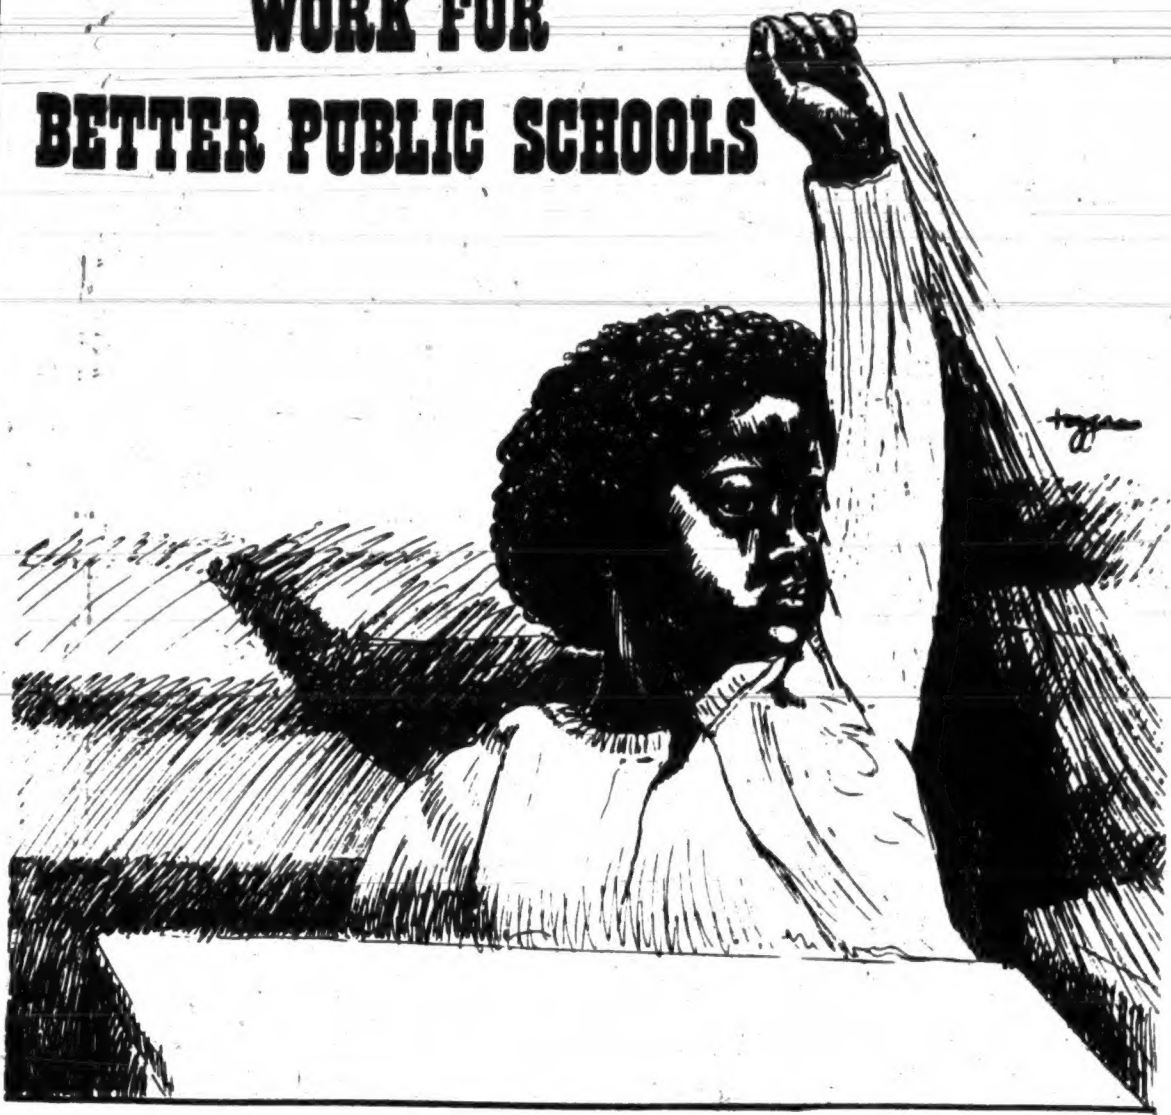

Franklin County Children Services provides foster care and arranges adoption for homeless children, aids parents with physically handicapped children and works with unruly children to keep them from getting into serious trouble.

The agency has been working hard of late to bridge the gap between the black community and itself, and we think the black community should share in that effort by helping to approve Issue 4.

We pay for many things in life, but there is none more important than providing for abused, neglected and homeless children. When we go to the polls on Nov. 8, they should be uppermost in our minds. A YES vote on Issue 4 shows that we care about their plight and are willing to do something about it.

WORK FOR BETTER PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Martin Luther King Holiday vs. Politics

When legislation is signed designating the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as a national holiday, President Reagan will have dramatically proven that he's an infinitely better politician than he ever was as a Hollywood movie actor.

His impending signing of the legislation will undoubtedly have a tremendous impact on Black America. But, if he expects to win political battleground during the 1984 campaign.

But for the most part, the impassioned hatred of Reagan is too deeply embedded in the hearts of a vast majority of Blacks to allow him to vindicate himself of all sins of omission with a holiday in honor of the immortal Dr. King.

In spite of this fierce hatred, however, the spirit of human decency dictates that both Reagan and the cynics argue that President Lincoln issued his Emancipation Proclamation to preserve the Union and that freeing the slaves was incidental. They can be expected to maintain that Reagan's signing the holiday legislation was motivated by politics and not out of his sincere respect for the revered Dr. King.

Assuming that the cynics are correct in their argument, the ultimate results of Lincoln's Proclamation and Reagan's signing of the holiday legislation, is what counts. Otherwise, the freeing of the slaves and proclaiming a legal national holiday in commemoration of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is the bottom line.

To be sure, a measure of politics figured in the Emancipation Proclamation as it will when Reagan signs the holiday resolution, for by virtue of the fact that both Lincoln and Reagan became President through the political process, both were politicians.

However, with the exception of Reagan, neither political party can take full credit for approval of the holiday legislation, for it was first approved by the Democratic controlled House before the Republican dominated Senate passed the measure last week.

him more than a small percentage of the total Black vote, he is most likely to be in for a sad disappointment election day 1984.

Surely Reagan is not so naive as to think that his signing of the legislation will cause Blacks to see him in a different light. But, he is wise enough to know that by signing the legislation he and his supporters will have a solid plank to stand on while campaigning for the Black vote next year.

Moreover, it will provide Reagan's few loyal Black supporters, such as the National Council of Black Republicans, with significant ammunition to fire away on the

and the Congress merit the unified praise of Black America.

Mr. Reagan, they are likely to say, you honored us with a national holiday, but you have virtually destroyed our Social Services agencies. You gave us cheese and butter, but you cut our food stamps to the point that we are unable to buy adequate meat and bread. You have given us a once-a-year holiday, but you have failed to do anything about the year around holiday already forced upon thousands of jobless men and women.

But unlike average Blacks, Black cynics will downplay the importance of the designated hol-

Are Racial Job Quotas Still Necessary?

By GILBERT PRICE
(Guest Columnist)

The political discussion on affirmative action, never very high-minded, was further debased by a recent poll commissioned by the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) of B'nai B'rith. The ADL has discovered that an overwhelming majority of Americans are opposed to racial quotas.

According to their survey, 67.5 percent of all Americans -- and 52 of the non-whites -- preferred that leges at all.

The ADL's national chairman stated that "it is obvious from the survey's findings that America rejects quotas and preferential treatment."

Indeed, hiring on the basis of merit is as American as apple pie. No one will say that one person should have special advantages over another solely because of race. And that is the kicker. The survey questions were designed to elicit the responses the ADL received.

requirements -- of Affirmative Action. No law of any kind requires rigid quotas for the hiring of candidates; quotas are imposed only by courts, and only then where there has been such an invidious history of racial discrimination that the quota is the only way to eliminate the present affects of past discrimination -- such as in the pending Columbus police case.

Affirmative Action plans usually contain only "goals" -- not rigid quotas -- for the hiring of minorities and women.

Black unemployment is -- and has historically been -- double that of white unemployment. The rate of unemployment for blacks with a college degree -- the group that has already benefited from the "training and educating minority groups" of which the survey approved -- is 250 percent higher than that of white college graduates, and almost as high as that for white high school graduates. And each recession raises the level of black unemployment to new heights.

But the point of Affirmative Action is not education and training; it is not even, in a real sense, unemployment. The point is that discrimination still exists in America.

Guest Columnist

companies hire the most qualified person regardless of color, and that they not be required to hire a certain number of members of minority groups.

In addition, only 1.5 percent of the sample said that minorities should be given special privileges to rectify past discrimination; 60 percent said the emphasis should be on training and education for minorities, and 34 percent said the emphasis should be on enhancing job opportunities for all Americans, without any special privi-

Although the ADL survey asked three questions, one of the questions asked is sufficient to demonstrate the slant: "Do you think every company in America should be permitted to hire the most qualified person for every position, or be required by law to hire a certain percentage of minority groups, such as blacks and Hispanics, even if they are not the most qualified?" Of course, the response was overwhelmingly "no."

Yet, the question does violence to the very notion -- and the factual

The Harsh Realities Of Utility Bills Our Fragile World Grows Smaller

Silence is golden, we are told. It's also expensive, according to the Office of Consumers' Counsel.

Consider for a moment a silent telephone: no calls in, no calls out for a year. In Cincinnati the smallest yearly bill for that silence would be $109 (two-party measured service). The yearly "hush" payment in seven of Ohio's major cities, all serviced by Ohio Bell, amounts to $87.60 on the service.

Now turn off all electrical appliances, unplug the clocks, shut off the air conditioner--everything, requiring electricity. The bare minimum yearly payment to the electric company will range from no charge in Cleveland to $51 in Dayton and Toledo.

After extinguishing the hot water heater, furnace and pilot lights, the payment to the gas company at the end of the year will average $48.08 in Ohio. Flush no toilet, wash no laundry, clean no dish or dirty kid, let the lawn dry up--the water and sewer will average $60.13.

Add it up and the average minimum customer service charge among Ohio's major cities comes to $232.93 a year. Of course this so-called "cost of nothing" varies among the cities. Cincinnati heads the list with a total of $274.80, followed by Toledo at $267.80; Dayton, $259.44; Canton, $237; Columbus, $235.40; Akron $207; Cleveland $193.72 and Youngstown $188.24.

Utility companies claim the monthly service charge is necessary to recover some fixed costs. Telephone service comprises about 39 percent of the annual "cost of nothing" bill. However, only 14 percent of Ohio Bell's customers have measured or budget service. Besides the customer service charge, customers pay for calls based upon time, duration, distance and the number of calls. Under the flat rate service plan, the one preferred by great majority of Ohio Bell's 2.1 million customers, the monthly charge entitles consumers to make an unlimited number of local calls.

Ohio Bell's consumers with flat rate service should add $85.80 to their annual "bare existence" bill; while Cincinnati Bell customers should include $81 to the tally. That increases to 55 percent the telephone's portion of the annual bill.

In January, flat rate service could go up 95 percent and raise the yearly total for the phone in Ohio Bell territory to $339.60 if the PUCO gives the company all it wants from a pending $179 million rate case, plus $8 a month in access charges. For measured or budget service customers the proposed increase is greater--147 percent, from $87.60 to $216 a year. That could hike the annual "cost of nothing" bill in Toledo to $396 next year.

"What the utilities may not realize is that they could be pricing people out of the market," said Consumers' Counsel William A.

Sprattley. "These customers service charges take up a bigger percentage of the utility bill and that especially hurts the low income consumer. We have to keep the telephone affordable. What we need to do is fashion a lifeline rate to preserve universal service in the telephone industry."

Some relief lies in the Ohio Legislature where State Senator Thomas Fries (D-Dayton) has introduced a bill (Senate Bill 173) that would put a limit in the customer charges assessed by gas and electric utilities. OCC's nine-member Governing Board endorsed the legislation.

The nations of the world continue to inch closer to a conflict that could end civilization as we know it. International relations continue to deteriorate.

Many Americans have joined the debate over nuclear disarmament and a vastly increased military budget.

In Europe, many citizens have violently challenged the announced deployment of Pershing II and cruise missiles in Western Europe.

Just last week the Soviet Union announced that it too would make further deployments in Soviet bloc countries as a counter measure.

Daily reports of fighting in Central America fill evening newscasts and the front pages of general circulation newspapers.

El Salvador, Nicaragua and Honduras have become household words.

American diplomats and emissaries are being rejected by natives of Central American countries as "agents of death." Thousands of people are homeless refugees, their condition came about because they wanted to avoid the military conflicts and the "us or nothing" mentality that has gripped the entire region.

In the Caribbean, 500 U.S. Marines and 1,000 U.S. Paratroopers accompanied by 300 soldiers from six Caribbean nations have invaded Grenada in the wake of a bloody coup against the leftist government of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop, by elements of the Grenadian military.

In the Middle East Marines are dying. In a little over one year, at least 216 Marines have died and 126 have been wounded, most of them in the Sunday bombing of marine headquarters in Beirut, Lebanon.

The Marines' deaths have caused Americans to examine the so-called peace keeping function that our troops have been committed to.

The downing of South Korean Airlines flight 007, when it strayed over Russian territory, taking 269 lives coupled with the recent bombing murder of 17 South Korean cabinet members has created a real war possibility particularly now that sources in Seoul, South Korea, are saying an invasion from North Korea is imminent. There are wars and rumors of war.

Continuous conflicts have created an air of paranoia affecting the attitudes of all of us.

Physicians for Social Responsibility conducted a survey among high school students in New Jersey recently and 70 percent of the students concluded that it was "likely" that they would die in the next 20 years, in a nuclear war.

What a future to look forward to. How can Americans be faulted for their escapist mentality, for their degenerate use of narcotics and alcohol. Is it surprising that juvenile crime rages?

We should all be outraged that we have allowed our leaders to preempt our futures.

What evidence exists that military dominance is the only path to safety. Once the button is pushed and the nuclear threshold is violated, it's over for all of us, regardless of first strike capability.

Farmers cuts rates on auto insurance for drivers between 30 and 60

We have rates 25% under standard rates for drivers between the ages of 30 and 60.

There's a good reason for this. Farmers know that these drivers tend to be safer and more careful on the highway. You're the drivers who have fewer accidents. That's why Farmers created our 30/60 package auto policy. If you qualify, you could save substantially on your premiums.
Farmers Insurance Group is working constantly to keep the costs of insurance down, and the amount of protection up. And this 30/60 package auto policy is one way we do it. Why not

No To Issues 2 & 3

Dear Editor:

It has always amazed me, and I continue to find it interesting even now, that mis-information tends to gain greater circulation and attention than does factual information. Issues 2 and 3 are excellent examples of this point.

To begin with, we must ask ourselves what underlies the meaning of Issues 2 and 3? We know what the proponents say they want to do. They say that they want to repeal the present tax structure. What is missing here is the why? Is this a tax revolt (the proponents are against new taxes)? Are they seeking better fiscal management? I would say "no" to each of these for the following reasons.

Firstly, Issue 2 offers no promises about new taxes in the future. Rather it appears that there is a preference for shifting the tax burden from the state level to local taxes, licenses, users fees, etc. But taxes none the less! Moreover, although the tax increase under the Celeste Administration was 90 percent more than the prior level for permanent taxes, it was actually only 27 percent above the amount withheld in temporary taxes under former Governor James A. Rhodes.

Secondly, according to those who are most familiar with legislative finesses and maneuvers (including both Democrat & Republican legislators), it is a rarity to gain a 60 majority on a tax bill unconditionally. This brings me to the observation of tight fiscal management as the rationale underlying Issue 2. Conditions attached to tax bills to gain this voting leverage, typically include pay raises and other attractive packaging which would get the necessary votes, but in the meantime subvert the goal of tight fiscal management.

The question of the "why" underlying these issues remains. It is apparent that a vote for Issues 2 and 3 will not reduce taxes as proponents advocate, but will greatly increase taxes. More importantly, the repeal of the income tax will cause the state to lose an estimated $1.5 billion from the $8.9 billion in the general fund for 1984-'85. This translates directly into substantial decreases in educational funding, reduced correctional services for juveniles in institutions and at the community levels, and many other social services which are needed.

Sincerely,
Robert A. Nance
Columbus, Ohio

Vote No On Issues 2 & 3

Dear Editor:

As a former Director of the Ohio Youth Commission, now the Department of Youth Services, and a former Cabinet member, I wish to express my opposition to Issues 2 and 3 which will appear on the November ballot.

If Issues 2 and 3 are approved, the state and its many separate functions will be seriously affected. From long years of experience, I know just how dependent the citizens of Ohio are upon the state to provide basic health and safety needs, as well as for the education of the young. The benefits the state provides to those in need -- the elderly, the young, the poor, those who seek self-improvement through education -- will be eliminated. We will do ourselves and our fellow citizens a terrible disservice if we abandon them now.

I am particularly disturbed about the impact of the loss of tax dollars on the troubled youth of the state, who can only turn to state institutions for their care and education. We must honor our commitment to them, and provide for their health, safety and education.

Issue 2, which calls for a three-fifths majority vote to pass any legislation dealing with future taxes will profoundly affect all of us; we may not ever be able to reach that amount of agreement within our legislature, and the entire population will be subject to the will of a minority.

Along with some of my former colleagues, and with many professional educators and human service providers across the state, I urge the voters to consider the possible impact of the passage of these two issues.

Sincerely,
William K. Willis,
Columbus, Ohio

Another Foe Of Issues 2 & 3

Dear Editor:

My work in the Human Service field has made me particularly sensitive to those clients who have the greatest need for service and relatedly those who would be most affected by any reductions in current service.

levels.

I am concerned that proponents of Issues 2 and 3 would advocate positions which would result in a reduction in necessary government supported services and state supported institutions. A repeal of the present tax structure, and especially the 90 percent income tax does exactly this.

Unfortunately, emotional feelings about taxes have taken precedence over a much needed critical and rational examination of the devastating ramifications of a repeal of the 90 percent income tax. The goal of tax reduction appears to have become an end to be sought regardless of its consequences.

The fact is that taxes cannot be realistically reduced at this time (given the number of previous cuts already absorbed) without a delayed economic recovery, without a general decline in the quality of education and without cuts in basic social services. The juvenile justice area is just one of the social service components that I know, personally, will suffer if additional cuts are made.

All 88 counties, where subsidies are currently provided to support delinquency prevention and residential services at the community level, would have to receive reductions in funding. Obviously, this would have far-reaching consequences to not only the individual youth who receive service, but also the providers of care (foster families and adults who run residential and group homes).

Additionally, young people in correctional institutions would be affected, particularly, when at the point of aftercare placement there would not be sufficient funds to care for them in the community.

The repeal of the 90 percent tax puts too many of our basic services in jeopardy for me as a parent and citizen to stand on the sideline and merely hope that this will not happen. It is for this reason that I am taking the time to register my position on this very vital issue.

Sincerely,
Gloria Andrews

Voice Of Black Ohioans

Dear Editor:

This letter is to commend the Call and Post, and one of your fine reporters for once again being the voice of Black Ohioans.

I refer to the article by Ms. Shenette Baker, that appeared in the September 9, issue, regarding the deaths of the seven Black Michigan women that were killed when the Korean Airlines flight on which they were passengers, was shot down by a Soviet jetfighter.

Since this heinous crime was committed, the broadcast and publishing media in this country has flooded the airways of our radios, and the screens of our televisions, as well as the pages of our printed media with each detail of the Korean, Japanese, and Caucasian passengers that were killed, but there has not been one mention of these Black Americans to my knowledge, until this article appeared.

Many people in the greater Cleveland area that I have personally questioned were totally unaware of this fact.

As citizens of this country we have the right to be informed of any and every issue that affects us either politically, economically or socially. I think this incident has affected Black people in all of these areas because these women were contributing members of this society in every sense of the word.

Thank you once again for keeping the Black community informed. The ever improving journalistic excellence of the Call and Post is a personal source of pride for me as it should be for all its Black readers.

Again I thank Ms. Baker for a fine piece of reporting, she is to be highly commended.

Sincerely,
Mary E. Allen

Against Issues 2 & 3

Dear Editor:

Ohio taxpayers need to recognize State Issues 2 and 3 for what they really are -- a struggle for power within the Ohio Republican Party.

The leading advocate for Issues 2 and 3 is arch-conservative, former State Senator Tom Van Meter. When Van Meter attempted to run for governor in 1982, he couldn't even muster support from 1 in 5 Republican voters. Now, he and some of his neanderthal political cronies are taking the back door approach to control the Republican Party by attempting to repeal the tax reforms which moderate Republicans and Democrats agree are necessary if Ohioans are to be put back to work after several years of increasing budget deficits brought about by President Reagan's trickle down economic theories.

Van Meter and his small band of political hacks would have us roll back the clock to the nineteenth century to the days of the robber barons. They would have us slash state support for senior citizens' programs and education and leave Ohio's job generating programs in shambles. They would have Ohio's unemployment compensation fund in total bankruptcy. They would force Ohio's small businesses to pay millions in unfair taxes. They would create pressure for higher property and sales taxes -- both of which are regressive, hitting senior citizens and low income people hardest. They would undermine Ohio's credit rating, forcing taxpayers to pay millions more in unnecessary interest charges to their rich banker friends. They would delay the building of badly needed new prisons and force us to consider releasing dangerous convicts out into our communities. And they would allow a minority to paralyze Ohio government in a state of financial crisis.

A vote for Issues 2 and 3 is a vote to return Van Meter's brand of stone-age politics to a position of power in Ohio. I urge all thinking Ohioans to vote no on these issues and let Ohio government get back to the basics of providing decent services for our citizens and a progressive education for our children.

Lauch Henry helped lead the rising tide of education minority engineers. Many.

Lauch Henry is a teacher. And a scientist. And an engineer. He's genuinely concerned about other people. And he has expressed some of this concern in his participation with the National Fund for Minority Engineering Students.

The fund is a non-profit organization attempting to increase the number of Blacks, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, Mexican Americans and American Indians enrolled in engineering schools. These under-represented minorities constitute a rich untapped resource to help fulfill the growing need for engineers, a need that is expected to continue through the mid-1990's.

IBM is a social issue program endorsed by Dr. Henry to take a year's leave to assist the fund. And IBM continued to pay him his full salary.

The National Fund for Minority Engineering Students is a very worthwhile program. We think so. Lauch Henry thinks so. But most important of all, lots of minority engineering students enrolled at colleges and universities all over the country think so. IBM.

EEOC Head Says Watt Remark Typical Of Common Attitude

CLARENCE THOMAS, chairman of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said that discrimination has become harder to fight, in his recent address at the City Club. "Discrimination is still a compelling reality of American life. Traditions of bias are so pervasive and deeply rooted in this country that even if all employers treated people equally from this day forward, it would take decades to erase the impact of discrimination," he said.

By WILLIAM R. WOOD
Clarence Thomas, chairman of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) said that the remark "a black, a woman, two Jews, and a cripple" made by former Interior Secretary James Watt is reflective of a common attitude resulting from many equal employment policies now in place.

"A problem we have in Washington that is pointed out by this whole thing is when we make employment decisions, or appointive decisions, we have to consider race and sex," said Thomas at the Cleveland City Club.

"It points out the kind of categorization and classification we're engaged in, in this society, today, where people are not treated as individuals, but as representatives of particular groups," Thomas continued.

Watt resigned from his post October 9, ending three weeks of uproar over the comment. Talking about an advisory panel in a Chamber of Commerce breakfast speech, Watt commented "We have every kind of mix you can have. I have a black, I have a woman, two Jews, and a cripple. And we have talent."

Thomas made it clear that he was not apologizing for Watt during the question and answer period at the City Club. He stressed that such categorization has led to a tremendous amount of fragmentation of minority groups.

Thomas, 35, a native of Georgia and a Yale Law School graduate, has been EEOC chairman since 1982. He did not discuss the Reagan administration's poor civil rights track record at the City Club but instead spoke about the compelling need for a new commitment to civil rights at all levels.

Thomas said commitment is more important now "because the targets are less clear and the issues more complex."

"Discrimination is still a compelling reality of American life," said Thomas. "Traditions of bias are so pervasive and deeply rooted in this country that even if all employers treated people equally from this day forward, it would take decades to erase the impact of discrimination."

Thomas, former Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights in the U.S. Department of Education, also said the existence of black colleges is at the center of current debates concerning desegregation in higher education.

"If you look carefully at the efforts of desegregation in higher education today, you will see that the whole issue is whether or not you should have black colleges in the U.S., as opposed to whether you are providing quality education to everyone in this country, and whether or not everyone has access to public education in this country.

Currently black colleges account for 25 percent of all black graduates, and 75 percent of black Ph.D.s.

Thomas commented that he believes the education of minorities in this society has been "almost criminal."

CMHA Receives $200,000 Grant

CLEVELAND--The tenants of Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority recently protested a $200,000 grant from the Cuyahoga County Welfare Department that promises to train 25 tenants who are now on welfare. Some tenants claim it is a form of "workfare."

The grant from the Welfare Department is to train residents to repair apartments so they could eventually operate their own building maintenance and rid themselves of public assistance.

A repair training program had been previously suggested by the tenants who reside at the Carver Park, Outhwaite and Woodhill Home estates.

The grant that was accepted by CMHA, would provide training from now to June 30, 1984, and would not affect welfare benefits of any of the residents in the program. Chairman Peter Iskin said.

"I can't imagine anyone being opposed to this," Iskin said.

Other neighborhood groups across the city have set up similar non-profit housing maintenance corporations, board member Norman Krumholz said.

"We ought to avail ourselves to see if we can instill some self-help among the residents themselves," he said.

Board member Isabelle Hendricks, who had originally proposed the tenant fixup program, voted against accepting the money. "Sufficient planning has not been put into this program," she said. Iskin was re-elected as chairman by the board at its annual meeting and Krumholz was elected vice chairman.

Although Hendricks had nominated Krumholz for vice chairman, when the vote was called, she voted against him.

Local servicemen

Army Reserve Pfc. Daniel M. Carroll, son of Douglas M. and Naomi K. Carroll of 3909 Gary Court, Cincinnati, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Efforts For Blacks Not Cosmetic, Says Brown

By WILLIAM R. WOOD
In a private interview Secretary of State Sherrod Brown said he has done more for the black community while in office than any other state officer.

The young politician may be right. 22 percent of the Secretary of State's office is now black. The top attorney in the office is a black woman. The office raised money for the United Negro College Fund and $25 per person for UNCF. Many Blacks are in decision-making positions in his office, including Corporations Chief Counsel, Corporations Asst. Counsel, Corporations Asst. Elections Counsel, and Asst. Press Director.

The assassination of Martin Luther King first prompted Brown to get involved in politics, he said.

Brown's brother worked for the late Medgar Evers of Mississippi. His mother has worked for Charles Evers there, as an unpaid worker and has also worked with Shirley Chisholm and the Y.M.C.A. nationally on their Civil Rights Commission of Racial Justice. Brown was also at the forefront of voter registration for blacks in Ohio during the summer.

"I'm not doing these things for credit," said Brown. "I'm doing them because I believe in them and our record is good. If you talk to the Madison of the NAACP in Detroit who organized Voter Registration (nationally for the NAACP) he said 'If Martin Luther King had got the kind of cooperation that we're getting from Sherrod Brown, most of our fathers would have slept a lot easier. We've really worked hard and are going to continue to work hard.'"

When Brown ran for office against Cuyahoga County Commissioner Virgil Brown, he pledged to the 21st Congressional District Caucus that he would hire more blacks than Virgil Brown because if Virgil Brown had won, he would have been pressured by the Republican party to hire some people that had been voted out of office because of the Democratic sweep. Brown exceeded that pledge.

Brown revealed that during the campaign he received pressure to become involved in racial politics but refused. "We got a lot of pressure during the campaign last year," began Brown.

"One guy said we should run ads in the Huntington West Virginia station in Cincinnati where in those areas of the state blacks are less likely to be elected because they are black. They said we should put my picture next to Virgil's picture and run it on T.V. everywhere. I said no. I was going to win without doing that.

And he did. But his opponent, although a Black man with a spotless record and strong community support, is a Republican, and the political affiliation spelled his doom.

But Ohio Republicans did nominate and support in full a black person for state-wide office, something the Democrats failed to do, and most blacks in Ohio are Democrats. Brown said it was "inexcusable" for the Ohio Democratic party to fail to do so.

Ohio is one of the five states in the nation where more blacks percentage wise voted in higher numbers than whites, and Brown received a lion's share of the black vote. In Cleveland he almost won the black community. Virgil Brown's home base. The Secretary of State had the endorsement of almost every Black congressman in the state.

Brown also indicated that Councilman Fannie Lewis worked harder for him than anyone in the state.

"Fannie worked harder for me than any other person. Black or white in the state. She is an elected official who really does what they're supposed to do," said Brown.

Brown explained that, aside from voter registration, his office is responsible for running state elections. The office has a corporate section with about 42 employees that protects people or organizations that incorporate so no one can sue them. A third section in the office works with uniform commercial loan transactions. About 130 people work in the office in total.

Although Brown and his office have done much to help people register to vote, voting remains the biggest problem," said Brown. "Out of fifty million, half of them vote. It's going to be tough to beat Ronald Reagan, because people don't vote."

Brown admitted that people will vote when there is something to vote against--the President and the poor economy he is associated with. He added that Ohio is one of the states where the change in economy will be seen last.

Holland Only Black In Race For Columbus School Board

Four of the eight candidates running for the Columbus Board of Education are incumbents, one by virtue of appointment.

Incumbents are: Pauline M. Radebaugh, board president, 920 Kenwood Ln., Gary L. Holland, vice president, 758 W. Town St., Carol Williams, past president, 6082 Sedgewick Rd., and Terry M. Covell, 2627 Mtizi Dr., the incumbent by appointment.

They are being challenged by: Douglas B. Belmonte, 136 Hawkes Ave., Bill Buckel, 1641 Hess Blvd., Edward A. Cutler, 289 S. Cypress Ave., James R. Ebright, 186 Hamilton Ave., and write-in candidate - Ignacio Delgado, 49 E. Moler St.

Radebaugh has an extensive educational background, including 18 years of voluntary service in Columbus schools. She is also a board member of the Ohio School Board Associations.

Holland, with degree in public administration and political science, is a staff assistant to Gov. Richard F. Celeste.

Williams is vice president of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce and holds degrees in education and political science.

Covell is an attorney and an accountant and has been active in the PTA and the Berwick Civic Association.

Belmonte's background includes 11 years of church and school management, and 18 years in hotel management.

Buckel is employed as a reference librarian at Battelle Institute and holds a degree in Mechanical Engineering.

Cutler is a pediatrician, a university professor and a former public school teacher.

Ebright, a businessman and president of Software Results Corp., holds a degree in urban studies.

Four of the eight candidates will be elected to four-year terms at the Nov. 8 election.

The Columbus chapter of the Nation of Islam has announced its endorsement of Charles O. Ross, the write-in candidate for mayor. "It is indeed a great honor and privilege for the opportunity to

Ross Files Protest With FCC Against WCMH-TV4

Charles O. Ross, a write-in candidate for Columbus mayor, has filed a complaint against WCMH-TV Ch. 4, with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) alleging that the station "denied him Equal Access" to its broadcast facilities.

Ross filed the complaint after he was excluded from the Oct. 17 scheduled debate involving mayoral candidates Michael J. Dorrian and Dana G. Rinehart, sponsored by the League of Women Voters (LWV) to be broadcast by WCMH-TV.

In a Sept. 8 letter to Gary Robinson, WCMH's station manager, Ross, pointed out that he had been excluded from the debate even though he is a bonafide candidate. Under the law, "I am entitled to equal air time," Ross wrote.

Robinson, in rejecting Ross' request, stated that since the debate is being sponsored by the LWV and not WCMH, under the "Equal Time Provision of the Rules of the FCC, coverage of this debate is exempt from equal time demands."

GARY HOLLAND, vice president of the Columbus School Board and aide to Governor Richard F. Celeste, congratulates James Williams, center, winner of a recent give away of a personal computer and registration to the Columbus Public School's COMPUTECH program, as Dorren Gentry, spokesperson for the Holland for School Board Committee smiles her approval. Gentry explained that awards were the most appropriate ways to reward a supporter of Holland, who is seeking re-election to a second four-year term on the board.

demonstrate our solidarity and support of Brother Professor Charles Ross," the Nation of Islam stated in a news release.

Dana "Buck" Rinehart, Republican mayoral candidate, was the recipient of a letter of appreciation for his presentation before the Joint Legislative Committee on Federal Funds on behalf of the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization (CMCAO).

Edward D. Thompson, president of CMCAO's Board of Trustees, said that as a result of Rinehart's presentation, the "Department of Development has revised the figures upward, but still not on a per capita basis. In our opinion your remarks helped make the difference."

In the meantime, a Rinehart fundraiser, featuring a Masquerade Party, has been scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 29, at Sam's Place, 1573 E. Long St., beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets ($5) will be sold at the door, $6 for persons without costume.

Rinehart will also be the guest at a reception Friday, Nov. 4, in the Governor's Suite at the Columbus Sheraton Plaza, 50 N. Third St., from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. The $35 admission tickets can be reserved by calling B.J. Lundy, Rinehart campaign headquarters, 228-2600.

In response to The Call & Post story under the caption of "Dorrian Can't Be Trusted," Edna M. Pace questioned the segment relative to Shilia Harshaw, former director of the Franklin County Welfare Department.

Contrary to the report, Ms. Pace, 1095 E. 26 Ave., stated in a letter to The CALL & POST that Harshaw was demoted to the position of deputy director of the social services division at her own request, and that she was not demoted by the department chiefs.

Senior Citizen Programs

Meredith Emmons Becomes Bride Of Edward M. Brown In Chicago

Meredith Jean Emmons, formerly of Columbus, became the bride of Edward Matthew Brown following an elegant ceremony at St. Dorothy Catholic Church in Chicago. Father John Mukasa-Ssebaana officiated.

The bride wore an elegant chiffon Victorian style gown with long sleeves and a chapel length train. Designed by Charmantie from New York, the hand beaded lace collar was connected by lace forming a "V" neck at the bodice.

White beads contouring the dress added finer detail. The sleeves were intricately laced and hand beaded which secured the hands tightly forming a "V" and buttoning at the wrist.

The veil was connected to a headpiece which was laced and had white beads to twist as they contoured the head. The white beads on the veil matched those on the dress. The veil formed a peacock at the top of the head and draped down the dress meeting the chapel length train.

The bride carried white carnations, white starburst mums, white ball mums, abbey roses, white carnations tipped peach and peacock baby breaths.

She was given away by her father, Dr. Jean F. Emmons.

Maid of honor was Ms. Marcia Ann Bell, childhood friend of the bride, of Columbus. Matron of honor was Dr. Denise Emmons, sister-in-law of the bride. Bridesmaids were Ms. Barbara Bailey, Washington, D.C.; Ms. Linda Walker, Ms. Sandra Reed, Ms. Paula Estrada, Ms. Lenore Wheeler and Ms. Patricia Watkins, all from Chicago.

The bridesmaids and other attendants wore peach colored chiffon gowns lined with taffeta. They were sleeveless, low-cut in the back and draped from the shoulder to the waistline.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ruth Y. Emmons wore a pure silk chiffon dress imported from France with flowery clusters of raspberry tones accented by sparkling sequins.

The ankle-length dress was lined with mauve silk satin. Twelve self-covered buttons accented the back, descending from the neck to the waist.

Miss Melvina Gray, neice of the groom was the flower girl. She wore a white eyelet gown with peach bows on the sleeves and neck.

The best man was Mr. Boiesy Besley of Dayton, Ohio. Groomsmen were Dr. Keith Emmons, brother of the bride, Dennis Sumpter, Perry Gray,

MRS. EDWARD MATTHEW BROWN

William Ladson, George Jones, Dr. Billy Lance and Capt. Dan Scott.

Ushers were Mr. Dudley Emmons and Mr. Michael Henderson. Master James Edward Millsap, III was the ring bearer. A reception followed the ceremony.

The bride is a special education teacher for the Chicago Board of Education. The groom is a federal auditor for the General Services Administration in Chicago.

Wedding Was A Family Affair

The October 1 wedding of Sara Ann Jones and William Darrell Coleman was truly an "all-in-the-family" celebration.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Jones of 1089 Country Club Rd., and groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Coleman of 1693 Bide-A-Wee Park, were wed by the Rev. Frank Flemister, a cousin of the bride.

Other relatives participating in the wedding, which was held in the bride's parents' home, were Mrs. Patricia Guthrie, Matron of Honor and sister;

Mrs. Brenda James, bridesmaid and sister-in-law; Kendra Jones and Tahira Guthrie, flower girls and nieces; William Jones and Derric Carter, ushers, and nephews and Allan Head, photographer and brother.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

The bride is currently employed as a laboratory technician with Dow Corning Ophthalmics. The groom works as a store detective for Gold Circle stores.

Parking Permits For Handicapped

State Rep. Mary O. Boyle announced that recently enacted legislation from the 115th General Assembly will allow more handicapped Ohioans to obtain special parking cards or license plates for their vehicles. House Bill 174 expands the types of physical conditions that qualify a person as "handicapped" for the purpose of using the special plates or cards to park in locations reserved for the handicapped.

For more information, or to request an application, interested persons may contact: Bureau of Motor Vehicles, 4300 Kimberly Parkway, Columbus, Ohio 43227.

Hank Marr Will Be Pageant Headliner

Hank Marr, Columbus' renowned jazz artist and teacher, will be the featured entertainer for Club Ti Amo's sixth annual "Miss Black Columbus Teenage" scholarship dinner-pageant to be held at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel, 50 N. Third St.

Tickets, for $20 each, can be purchased by contacting Club Ti Amo members, the teen contestants, or by calling Mrs. Evelyn Slocum at 258-3222, Mrs. Mattie Turner at 443-2432 and Mrs. Winnie Williams at 291-5668.

"Where can one go and receive both a delicious dinner plus quality entertainment for only $20 and also support our youth and senior citizens," asks club president Marilyn Daniel with a smile.

Praising the work that keyboardist Marr has done coaching the teen vocalists and instrumentalists, Mrs. Daniel noted, "Mr. Marr is a gift from Heaven. We must be doing something right."

Mrs. Daniel added, "Last year was a beautiful and successful year due to the support of all our community leaders, friends and neighbors." "Mr. Marr's added professionalism will make this year's pageant an even greater success," she prophesized.

GUEST SPEAKER - Marion Ferguson, daughter of evangelist Flora Ferguson, will be guest speaker for the 4 p.m. "Mission Day" program at Mr. Herman Baptist Church, 1132 E. Windsor Ave., Sunday, Oct. 30. Ms. Ferguson will address the topic: "Youth Witnessing for Christ."

Naomi G. Wilcox Awards

One of the highest compliments that can be made is to honor the noble characteristics of those who have sacrificed to do good for the greatest number, who use their God-given talents "to help the least of these," and show by example that their faith is unyielding in the Glory of God and the goodness of mankind.

Such was the charge to Chairman Anita L. Polk of the newly-created Annual "Naomi G. Wilcox Award" to be presented annually by the 21st District Congressional Caucus.

The honorees were: Anna Chatman, executive director, 21st District Congressional Caucus; Mrs. Barbara Peck, Chm. Voter Registration and Mrs. Vermelle Whalen, chairman, Booths and active Caucus member as are all three awardees.

Receiving "Honorable Mention" via nomination were the following Judges Charles W. Fleming, George J. Trumbo, Freida Kreitner, Cordell Edge, Eugene Pearson and Michael Nelson. Certificates were presented to the honorable mentioned at a Caucus meeting.

These characteristics were included on Nomination Applications with approximately one hundred applications passed out to everyone interested in nominating someone with the matching characteristics of the late Naomi Wilcox, a co-founder of the 21st District Congressional Caucus and former vice president of the body.

The three nominees who received an equal number of votes were members of the Awards Committee but did not vote for themselves.

ON ISSUES

VOTE NO 2 & 3

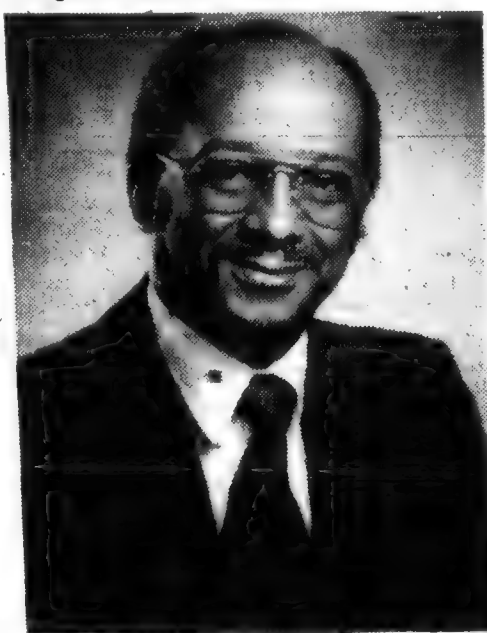

Some Of Ohio's Most Respected Black Leaders Give Reasons Why WE SHOULD VOTE NO ON ISSUES 2 & 3

The Committee to Defeat Issues 2 & 3 is a group of black citizens who have united behind the common purpose of preserving Ohio's financial health and integrity. This coalition of individuals from business, labor, education, religion and civic organizations, has come together to defeat the passage of Issues 2 and 3, and to stop the resulting financial disaster that would occur in Ohio's Black Community.

IF ISSUES 2 AND 3 PASS THERE WILL BE MAJOR REDUCTION IN SOCIAL SERVICES, WELFARE GRANTS, AND PUBLIC SECTOR JOBS. CUTS IN THE MEDICARE PROGRAM WOULD VIRTUALLY ELIMINATE SUCH ESSENTIAL SERVICES AS CLINIC CARE SERVICES, PRESCRIBED MEDICA-TIONS, MEDICAL SUPPLIES, AND DENTAL CARE. THE LOSS OF THESE HEALTH CARE SERVICES WOULD SEVERELY HARM THE HEALTH AND WELL BEING OF OUR COMMUNITY. THIS IS PRECISELY WHAT ISSUES 2 AND 3 WILL ACCOMPLISH AND THIS IS WHY WE MUST VOTE NO ON 2 & 3.

Education is one of the most important investments we can make in our future. Ohio's elementary and secondary schools and its colleges and universities will suffer severe spending cuts. This would mean teacher layoffs, larger classroom sizes, out of date textbooks, deferred building maintenance, and the failure of many local school districts to meet state minimum standards.

Rev. Charles Winburn

VOTE NO ON ISSUES 2 & 3

REMEMBER AS PAUL SAID IN HIS LETTER TO THE CORINTHIANS, "BUT THIS I SAY HE WHICH SOWETH SPARINGLY SHALL REAP ALSO SPARINGLY; AND HE WHICH SOWETH BOUNTIFULLY SHALL REAP BOUNTIFULLY."

THE BLACK CLERGY AND BLACK BUSINESS LEADERS OF THIS GREAT STATE OF OHIO URGE YOU TO BE YOUR BROTHER'S KEEPER BY VOTING NO ON ISSUES 2 AND 3 ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1983.

BLACK BUSINESS IN CLEVELAND AND OHIO WILL SUFFER GREATLY IF ISSUES 2 AND 3 ARE PASSED. THEREFORE WE STRONGLY URGE YOU TO VOTE NO ON ISSUES 2 AND 3!

Bucks Try To Break Badger Rpsse Bowl Blocking String

By FELIX HOOVER
(COLUMBUS BUREAU)
When Ohio State's Homecoming Game starts Saturday at 1:30 p.m., the Buckeyes will be trying to control a team which has kept OSU away from Pasadena on January 1 for the past two years.

Two years ago the Bucks' loss to Wisconsin helped create a co-championship in the Big Ten and let Iowa go to the Rose Bowl. Last season the Badgers stung the Buckeyes 6-0 on a lazy, rainy day and again denied Ohio State a run for the Roses.

The winner of this year's contest will probably bolster its position for some sort of bowl bid, even if it's not the one related directly to championship in the Big Ten. Both teams are presently tied with Iowa at 3-2 in conference play.

Wisconsin is coming off a 45-14 win over Indiana, while Ohio is advancing from a 21-11 victory over Michigan State.

With sheets of rain blanketing the artificial turf of Ohio Stadium last Saturday, much of the pre-game talk in the press box centered not on the MSU-OSU contest, but rather on the OSU-Wisconsin game of last season.

Once the game got underway, however, it was clear that the Bucks' defense was not going to take place.

Ohio State drove all the way on its first possession, starting on the 20 yard line and ending an 80-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown dive by tailback Keith Byars.

The Bucks kicked the ensuing kickoff out of bounds, then on the rekick Dean Altomelli returned the ball to the Michigan State 46 yard line. MSU moved inside the Ohio 30 before stalling. At that point they settled for a Ralf Moejenko field goal.

MSU again advanced the ball into Ohio State territory in the second period, but coughed up the ball which Doug Hill recovered.

Later in the second quarter Ohio State quarterback Jim Karsatos had his passing arm sharp and found tight end John Frank all alone over the middle to hook up on a 39 yard TD play.

Late in the third quarter field position temporarily shifted into the Buckeyes' favor as safety Kelvin Bell intercepted a Clark Brown pass and returned it to near mid-field.

During the break between the third and fourth quarters, reporters were peeking at a portable television as Michigan connected on a late field goal to gain a 16-13 win over Iowa to stay tied with Illinois atop the Big Ten.

Meanwhile back in Ohio Stadium, Vaughn Broadnax turned the ball over to the Spartans, then Keith Gates returned the favor.

Ohio State closed out its scoring with a 5-yard Keith Byars run and the accompanying extra point kick by Rich Spangler.

Michigan State narrowed the margin by recovering a blocked punt for a touchdown and making a two-point conversion.

Delaney On Mend At Home After Surgery

Ohio State University Associate Athletic Director Richard Delaney was released from Riverside Methodist Hospital where he recently underwent surgery.

His left lung was removed after the discovery of a tumor.

The 52-year-old Delaney has been a member of the OSU athletic department's administration for the past 13 years.

Sampson Career Debut Aims On National TV Saturday

The much awaited entrance of Ralph Sampson into the National Basketball Association will become a reality Saturday when the Houston Rockets play the San Antonio Spurs. CBS will carry the game starting at 3:45 p.m.

A three-time NCAA Player-of-the-Year while at Virginia, Sampson will try to help the Rockets forget about last season's 14-68 record.

Parking will be available at the Center for Tomorrow or at Chemical Abstracts.

Admission will be $2.00 per person, with pre-schoolers getting in free.

Free learn-to-swim classes will be offered by the Columbus Recreation and Parks Department within the next few weeks, so now's a good time to enroll pre-school and school

His first opponent in the middle will be Artis Gilmore.

Another much awaited event is set for Friday, December 9 as the Merry Makers Club presents its Fifth Annual Banquet in honor of the Ohio State men's basketball team. Activities will start at 6 p.m. at the Sheraton-Columbus Hotel.

Funds raised through this banquet will be contributed to the OSU Development Fund for use in providing scholarships to academically superior black students.

Tables for ten people may be reserved for $250.00.

Instead of on the University Golf Course, the 1983 State Boys and Girls Cross Country Championships will be run at the North Athletic Facility at Ohio State on Saturday, November 5.

aged youngsters. Adult instruction is also available.

Classes meet twice a week for four weeks beginning November 1.

Participants will be stationed according to their ability in the classes which are taught by certified water safety instructors and sanctioned by the American Red Cross.

In addition to the lessons, recreational swimming is offered to the public for 25¢ per person.

Additional information about the programs can be obtained by calling 291-7563 after 1:00 p.m.

General Motors, United Auto Workers Sign Record Setting Pact With EEOC

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- The U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), General Motors Corporation (GM) and the United Auto Workers Union (UAW) signed the largest non-litigated settlement in the history of the Commission, last week.

The agreement resolves hundreds of employment discrimination claims against the giant automaker.

Clarence Thomas, chairman of EEOC, announced the signing of the unprecedented pact, which took place at agency headquarters. GM Vice President for Industrial Relations Alfred S. Warren, Jr., and William P. MacKinnon, vice president, Personnel Administration and Development, signed the agreement. Jordan Rosen, UAW general counsel, also signed the agreement, resolving one of the oldest and largest Commission charges and ending ten years of negotiation between the parties.

In this agreement, GM has consented to provide in excess of $42 million to resolve all issues of alleged discrimination against minorities and women cited in a pattern and GOVERNMENT, PRIVATE INDUSTRY SIGN PACT -- A $42-million settlement of job discrimination claims against General Motors Corporation (GM) was signed October 18 at U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) headquarters in Washington, D.C. Shown signing the agreement are Commission Chairman Clarence Thomas, flanked by Alfred S. Warren, GM vice president, Industrial Relations (l), and William P. practice or "Commissioner's charge" filed in 1973 by former EEOC Chairman William H. Brown, III.

The issues raised in the charge include failure to hire and bias in training and promotions with respect to blacks, Hispanics and other minorities, and women.

The agreement, which covers virtually all GM facilities in the United States, also resolves claims against the UAW.

Settlement delays were attributed to varying views on the kinds of relief to be provided and on the goals to be incorporated. Most of these differences were resolved over the last year.

"The agreement is a significant achievement," said EEOC Chairman Thomas, "and I am gratified that it was reached without resort to long and costly litigation."

Included in the agreement is a procedure to facilitate resolution of approximately 700 current charges and any future covered charges filed against GM and the union under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the statute under which the Brown charge was filed.

One of the more unique aspects of the agreement is the provision of $15 million for educational endowments and scholarships. Minority and women class members who are employees of GM, including those on layoff, will be eligible to participate in the program. The funds will be disbursed at the rate of $3 million per year for five years, the term of the agreement. Increased opportunities for education in the fields of engineering and technology are a primary objective of the program, although choices for training are not limited to these areas.

Citing the relatively low number of protected groups being educated in various fields of technology, Chairman Thomas indicated that this educational aspect of the agreement was one means of curing such disparities. "Even though all signs point to continued recovery from our latest recession," he said, "many jobs which were lost during the recent hard times are not being replaced. Many companies have retooled in order to profit in the new information age. The people who are destined to succeed in this new era are the people who are also retooling, developing the high-tech knowledge they will need to keep pace."

Other areas of education and training for which settlement money has been earmarked include programs for increasing opportunities for affected class members at the supervisor, executive, preapprenticeship and salaried position lev-

Bi-Partisan Senate Group Passes Martin Luther King Holiday Bill

A Commentary
By JOHN W. LEWIS, JR.

WASHINGTON -- In a drama-packed two days of distinguished oratory and debate, America's most eloquent senators stood before their colleagues urging passage of the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday bill. The bi-partisan group of senators combined their efforts to demolish the racist, red-baiting arguments of Sen. Jesse Helms, the ultra-conservative North Carolina Republican, who embarrassed himself before the nation with an assortment of sleazy weakening amendments directed at defeating the King bill.

"I am appalled at the attempt of some to misappropriate the memory of my brother, Robert Kennedy, and misuse it as part of this smear campaign," Sen. Edward Kennedy thundered, answering Helms' charges that Robert Kennedy had authorized a wire tap. Kennedy said that the late attorney general approved only a "limited telephone tap of interception for some 30 days," but if he were alive today he would deplore that.

"If Robert Kennedy were alive today he would be the first person to say that J. Edgar Hoover's reckless campaign against Martin Luther King was a shame and a blot on American history," said Kennedy. "If Robert Kennedy were alive today, he would be among the first to stand and speak for this holiday in honor of Martin Luther King - whom he regarded as the greatest prophet of our time and one of the greatest Americans of all time."

Equally outraged with Helms' charges against King, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, told the Senate chamber that a bulky packet of old FBI files that Helms had passed out to senators was "filth" and slammed the packet on the floor. "This is a chamber in which one ought to maintain the highest standard of evidence and truth, and entertain a minimum respect for the dead who cannot defend themselves," said Moynihan.

Senator Bill Bradley, the New Jersey Democrat, warned opponents of the bill that they were committing political suicide by opposing a measure so overwhelmingly supported by Black Americans. "They are running the 'old campaign' as old as the interaction of race and politics in America," said

Bradley. "They are playing up to 'old Jim Crow' and all of us know it."

"I believe it is time for the Senate to... forever commit to history the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.," Sen. Paul E. Tsongas, the Massachusetts Democrat solemnly told his Senate colleagues. "... There are ideas whose time has come, and this is one, and if the people wonder why progress is so difficult, they should observe the action of the Senate and those who fight bitterly to hold back to a different past."

Helms and a minority of his Senate colleagues tried a variety of ludicrous, transparent strategies aimed at defeating the bill. One tried to make the King holiday conditional on holidays for Thomas Jefferson and Hispanic Americans. Another amended the King bill with a resolution asking President Reagan to pardon Marcus Garvey, the black nationalist leader of the Back-to-Africa movement, who was jailed for mail fraud nearly a half century ago.

One by one, these and other amendments were struck down by a determined Senate

PROMISING TO SERVE—The Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization (CMACAO) Head Start Policy Committee officers were installed by C. Rinehart, center, administrator of the Youth Services Bureau at their first meeting of this operating year. Rinehart Supports CMACAO At Hearing

Franklin County treasurer Dana G. Rinehart recommended that federal monies for community action agencies throughout Ohio be distributed on the basis of those areas with the greatest need during a hearing before the Joint Committee On Federal Funds September 29.

Rinehart made his comments in regards to the State of Ohio's proposed Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) Plan for fiscal year 1984.

In his testimony, Rinehart questioned the logic of the formula being recommended for fiscal year 1984 CSBG distribution, which is based 90 percent on the 1979 census of poverty persons and 10 percent on the 1980 census.

"The poverty population in Franklin County has risen from 65,592 per the 1970 census to 134,406 per the 1980 census, an increase of 48,814 people needing the programs and services of the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization (CMACAO)," Rinehart said.

"Meeting the needs of almost 50,000 more poor people in Franklin County than in 1970 with only a 3 percent increase in funds over last year will leave many people and homes wanting."

Under the proposed 1984 funding plan, CMACAO would receive $887,462, an increase of only $22,854 from 1983. "I urge this Committee to re-evaluate its funding formula and distribute the CSBG monies based upon those areas around the state with the greatest need," Rinehart said.

The Columbus mayoral candidate recommended that CSBG funds be distributed based upon the statewide per capita average of $8.11 multiplied by each area's 1980 poverty population count.

"Using the per capita formula results in $1,090,612 going to CMACAO, allowing them to better serve and meet the needs of our increased poverty population, which is second only to the poverty population of Cuyahoga County."

Rinehart noted that the need for CMACAO is self evident and noted that thousands of people, from senior citizens, to youths, to the unemployed had been helped.

"We must be willing to address the needs of the impoverished in a fair and equitable way," Rinehart said. "We must look to those areas having the greatest need around the state as a priority for CSBG funding."

Responding to Rinehart's testimony before the federal group, CMACAO board of trustees president Edward D. Thompson in a letter of appreciation noted that "In our opinion your remarks helped make the difference."

expensive two-hour transcontinental reunion, the CALL & POST was permitted to speak briefly with Pfc. Callender, who explained that the U.S. Embassy where he serves is located several miles from the Marine Landing Team B a t-talion headquarters, the target of last week's brutal attack. He admitted, however, "danger constantly lurks nearby."

He said that he had enlisted in the Marines in September 1982 and was shipped to Beirut last May from Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Anxious to return stateside to his family, Pfc. Callender noted, "I've been stationed over here since May. I'm really looking forward to getting out of here and heading home soon." He said a fresh battalion of Marines is currently enroute from North Carolina and as soon as they arrive, his outfit will be shipped back to the United States before the holidays. His relieved, but cautious mother, Dorothy, happy that her prayers had been answered recalled that her son's decision to enlist in the Marines had been made on his own. "He seemed to want that for himself, so we let it be," she said.

According to long-time friend Stafford Spencer, who is already planning a big welcome home party, Callender decided to enlist in the Marines to make himself a "better man." "I tried to talk him into going into the Air Force instead, because it was a better deal," Spencer recalled, "but he insisted on the Marines. He didn't want to get caught just hanging around the streets."

As for the future, Pfc. Callender's troubled and concerned mother noted, "I feel as Americans we should pull our noses out of foreign affairs. Why should our boys have to lose their lives over things that don't concern us?"

As excited as a June bride, wife Carla, enjoyed a long euphoric chat with her beloved husband, whom she hasn't seen since last April. In a conversation, ranging from her husband's predicted time of arrival home next month, to the latest city league standing of the East High Tiger football team, Carla and Michael Callender were joyfully reunited, if only briefly.

The couple were high school sweethearts at East where Callender excelled in track, basketball and wrestling.

"I just want him home with me and the children," Carla said. "I'm going to throw a big party for him when he does get here and the holidays will be just perfect."

Need For Black Foster Parents Is Increasing

As long as there are children waiting, Franklin County Children Services will continue its appeal to the community for more foster homes.

Right now, Children Services has three groups of young, black siblings it cannot place, because of a shortage of homes, particularly black foster homes.

Two sisters, ages seven and five; a brother and sister, ages three and two; and a one-month-old baby girl, her one-year-old brother and their 16-year-old mother, are all waiting for foster homes.

The agency reports there are not enough black foster homes ready and waiting for black children needing homes.

"We don't seem able to build up a cushion of licensed, black foster homes so we can quickly place children," said Leni Koloski, Children Services foster care recruiter. "We like to have enough foster homes so Children Services can match a child or children with the best temporary home. Children come to foster care because of abuse, neglect or other temporary disruptions."

Children Services foster parent, Doris Robertson, is a member of the Franklin County Foster Parent Association executive committee. She has been fostering for four years, and is always encouraging more families to consider fostering.

"Yes, it's a major decision for a family to commit themselves to foster care, but when you look at those children - that will make you do it," she said.

For more information about foster care and the children who need homes, call Children Services foster care department at 275-2543.

that passed the King legislation 78-22. It was a magnificent day for all Americans, not simply for blacks, but for white Americans who have grown enough to take the first steps in the long journey toward ending racial oppression.

It is a time for whites to reconsider what King asked of them nearly two decades ago - to judge a man not by the color of his skin, but by the content of his character. The legislation honoring his memory on the third Monday in January is a fitting tribute to a man and a movement that transformed the history of this country.

He received a Master's degree in Social Work from The Ohio State University in 1973 and has also attended the University of Alabama's Training Institute. He has participated in the Columbus Area Leadership Program and has been affiliated with the National Training Center on Drug Abuse in Miami, Fla.

Richardson is a member of the board of directors of the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization (CMCAO) and advisor to the Columbus Human Rights Organization, as well as involvement with several other community activities.

Attorney General Anthony J. Celebrezze, Jr., announced last week the appointment of Janet E. Jackson, an attorney with the Cleveland law firm of Sindell, Sindell and Rubenstein, as chief of the Civil Rights Section in his office.

Jackson, 30, is a native of Randolph, Va. She received her bachelor's degree in history from Wittenberg University in 1975, and her Juris Doctor in May of 1978, from George Washington University.

In August, 1978, Jackson became a staff attorney in the Civil Rights Section of the Attorney General's office and was named assistant chief of the section in 1980.

She became chief of the Crime Victims Compensation section of the office in January of 1982 and remained in that position until November, 1982 when she joined the Sindell firm.

During the time that she worked on the Attorney General's staff, she was involved in several civic organizations including the Coalition for Political Education, Young Black Leadership Forum, Metropolitan Democratic Women's Club, the Women Lawyers of Franklin County and the Robert B. Dorrian's Backers Will Hold Jobs Rally Saturday Supporters of Michael J. Dorrian for Mayor will hold a "Rally for Jobs" on the steps of City Hall at 12 noon Saturday, Oct. 29, campaign officials announced Monday.

The purpose of the rally is to highlight the importance of employment policies in the platform of the next city administration.

"There is no issue of greater importance to the future of this city than the need to stimulate full employment for job-seekers from all segments of the community," a Dorrian spokesman said.

The spokesman said that Dorrian will outline his plans to stimulate the economy in order to create a wide range of meaningful jobs in the public and private sector.

Persons seeking further information about the rally are advised to call Dorrian headquarters at 469-1983.

Law Students Plan Open House Nov. 5

The Capital University Law School and the Black American Law Student Association (BALSA) will co-sponsor an Open House at 10 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 5.

The Open House is being held in order to increase minority representation in the law school and ultimately the legal profession in general, says Sandra Underwood, BALSA president.

The law school admission process, financial aid opportunities and placement upon graduation are topics that will be discussed by a panel of attorneys.

Andrew Young Endorses Candidacy Of Dorrian

Andrew J. Young Jr., mayor of Atlanta and one of the nation's leading black political figures, thinks write-in campaigns are a waste of time and that votes cast for write-in candidates are wasted votes.

Young, a former associate of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and ambassador to the United Nations during the Carter administration, made his comments about write-in campaigns during a visit with about 200 leading members of the black community at a reception at the Sheraton Columbus Plaza on Friday, Oct. 21.

Young was in Columbus to publicly endorse Democrat Michael J. Dorrian for mayor and to urge black voters to support the Democratic ticket. During a brief news conference, Young, flanked by Dorrian and City Councilman Jerry Hammond and Ben Espy, said, "The poor should elect a candidate who can see that their needs are served. In Columbus, in this campaign, Mike Dorrian is that candidate."

Young, who described Hammond as "my very good friend," said he was familiar with Dorrian's record and his stand on issues affecting blacks as the result of consultations with Dorrian himself and with Hammond, Espy and others.

"These are people whose judgment and opinions I respect most highly," Young said in comments made after the news conference. "I don't make endorsements lightly. I strongly believe that it will be in the best interests of black voters to elect Mike Dorrian as their next mayor."

During the news conference, Young was asked the following question: "Are you aware that a black independent has entered the local mayoral race as a write-in candidate, and what are your views on this development?"

In a strongly-worded reply, Young equated voting for a write-in candidate with failing to vote at all.

"I have never known a write-in candidate, white, black, blue or gray, to do anything but create confusion. People would be poorly served by wasting any time on any write-in candidate," Young said.

Young indicated that he strongly supports black involvement in politics, but suggested that those who are serious about getting elected should demonstrate their seriousness by following the simple procedures necessary to get their names on a ballot.

"It's not that hard to get on a ballot," the former U.S. Congressman said. "You don't need any money, just signatures."

Young was strongly critical of the Reagan administration, saying that current federal policies are "turning back the clock on every advancement made in the areas of civil rights and social justice in the past 20 years."

Elaborating on his comments later, Young said that the Reagan administration policies represent Republican thinking at all levels of government. "If any Republican candidate disagrees with the President's negative attitudes toward blacks, then that Republican should say so in no uncertain terms," Young said.

We build homes like they used to.

(which is why Phase I sold out in record time!)

Earlier this year, our company, Inland Steel Development, introduced "a new generation of homes"—at Brook Farm in Reynoldsburg. The homes reflected the newest achievements in quality designs, space-planning and energy-control construction. All with the charm and craftsmanship of an earlier era.

Priced incredibly low, these homes sold out, leaving many home-seeking families disappointed. Now we're opening Phase II. If you visit the model homes without delay, you can still select the lot location of your choice.

Ranches, split-levels and 2-story designs filled with features you would expect only in homes costing many thousands of dollars more! From fabulous kitchens with furniture-quality cabinets to wall-to-wall carpeting.

All across the country, thousands of families have discovered that when it comes to building family homes, nobody does it better than Inland Steel Development.

Excellent financing—including fixed-rate, long-term FHA and VA mortgages!

The beautifully furnished model homes are ready for your inspection. And Brook Farm is so easy to reach—just 15 minutes from downtown Columbus. On Rosehill Road at Broad Street. Open noon daily, closed Friday. Phone 866-7156 or 864-5110. Prices subject to change without notice.

As Mayor, Rinehart will keep his commitments to the Black Community. Because he always has.

■ RINEHART IS COMMITTED TO AFFIRMATIVE ACTION. As Franklin County Treasurer, Dana Rinehart established the Office's first Affirmative Action hiring program.

He hired the state's first Black female Deputy Treasurer.

He made sure Black employment in his office always reflected the percentage of Blacks in the county. In fact, it always exceeded it.

As Mayor, Rinehart will appoint Blacks to key administrative jobs in City Hall; including the Mayor's Cabinet.

He will enforce all affirmative action guidelines and fight any racial discrimination.

He will seek out Blacks to serve on city boards and commissions and to run for public office.

■ RINEHART IS COMMITTED TO JOBS. As a member of the Mayor's Economic Development Council, Rinehart helped produce Columbus's first minority vendor list.

He helped set up the Minority Business Development Office in City Hall.

He worked on the Mt. Vernon South Advisory Task Force to help improve that area.

He helped Columbus Schools find private funds for special training programs.

As Mayor, Rinehart will push for establishment of Enterprise Zones to bring jobs to poor areas.

He will work to tear down economic barriers—in areas such as venture capital, bonding, and lending—that hinder Black participation in city contracts.

He will seek out federal, state, and private funding for more job training.

■ RINEHART IS COMMITTED TO HELPING THE NEEDY. As County Treasurer, Rinehart got laws passed that allowed more Medicaid recipients to keep their homes and that allowed people to pay their property taxes late in medical emergencies.

He created the Senior Citizen Property Tax Assistance Fund to raise private donations for those in need.

As Mayor, Rinehart will push for even more practical programs to help the poor, elderly, handicapped, and unemployed meet their needs.

■ RINEHART IS COMMITTED TO THE NEIGHBORHOODS. As a candidate for Mayor, Rinehart is holding regular public meetings in neighborhoods across Columbus and is meeting with Area Commission and Community Council leaders.

As Mayor, Rinehart will continue those meetings on a regular basis and establish a Mayor/Neighborhood Roundtable to increase neighborhood leaders' involvement in city decisions.

He will seek federal and private funding to establish Neighborhood Action Centers tied into City Hall and to rehabilitate housing in the neighborhoods.

He will ensure that basic services—from street lighting to snow removal—are provided equally in all neighborhoods.

■ RINEHART IS COMMITTED TO FIGHTING CRIME. As Mayor, Rinehart will push for creation of an "Enhanced 911" emergency telephone system to improve medical and police response to neighborhood emergencies.

He will promote expanded neighborhood involvement in Block Watch and Crime Alert programs.

He will ensure fair and effective police protection in all neighborhoods.
